

Early music lessons boost brain development

Montreal researchers find that music lessons before age seven create stronger connections in the brain

